TODAY & TOMORROW

OCTOBER 15-28, 1983

(Newsbriefs continued)

Women interested in helping the medical profession learn more about two barrier methods of birth control—the diaphragm and the cervical cap—are invited to join in a study under way at the UCSF Family Planning Clinic at San Francisco General Hospital.

Participation is open to women aged 18 to 40 who are sexually active and are willing to be assigned randomly to use either birth control device.

"This is an important opportunity for women to help us determine the efficacy of cervical caps and find out more about both forms of birth control," says Kate Kirk, RN, the family nurse practitioner who coordinates the study. Kirk says that this is the only study of cervical caps in the Bay Area where participants receive full care, including regular follow-up visits and contraceptive supplies, at no cost.

The study is part of a three-year investigation coordinated by the Los Angeles Regional Family Planning Council, with funding from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development. SFGH is one of six health centers in California participating in the project. Medical director of the SFGH study is Philip D. Darney, MD, UCSF associate professor of Ob/Gyn and Reproductive Sciences and director of the Family Planning Clinic.

A limited number of private, enclosed garages in campus-owned buildings are now available for parking. Each garage, which is equipped with an automatic door control, rents for $65 per month, and also includes parking in the Millberry Union garage from 2:30 p.m. to 8 a.m., weekdays, and all day weekends and University holidays. Assignments are on a first come, first served basis. For further information contact the Parking Office at x2566.

As part of a week-long celebration for the Cardiovascular Research Institute's 25th anniversary, a campus-wide convocation will be held on Wednesday, October 19, at 2 p.m. in Cole Hall.

Speaking at the convocation will be former CVRI associate director Isidore Edelman, MD, now chair of the Department of Biochemistry at Columbia University, and Donald S. Fredrickson, MD, former director of the National Institutes of Health and now vice president of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

Edelman will present "The CVRI: Through the Retrospectroscope Lightly," followed by Fredrickson's lecture, "Supporting Academic Science: The Absolute and the Variable." An open house in the new CVRI research facilities on the 13th floor of Long Hospital and the dedication of the new Comroe Seminar Room will follow the addresses.

A major part of the commemoration will be a symposium to be held on campus and at the Morrison Auditorium at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park, at which more than 40 CVRI staff members will describe their research. Directors of the major research groups in the Institute will discuss the history of their work, while other scientists will describe some of the most exciting current research in the CVRI. This research covers areas as diverse as the prevention of atherosclerosis or the action of muscle fibers in the working heart.

Shuttle buses will run between campus and the Academy, departing UCSF from the shuttle stop on the north side of Parnassus Avenue in front of Millberry Union at 8:10 and 8:30 a.m. For further information contact Fran Dependahl at x2226.

One of the country's leading scientists in the field of cell growth regulation will be the honored speaker at the fourth Leslie L. Bennett Lecture on Thursday, October 20, at noon in Cole Hall.

Stanley Cohen, PhD, professor of Biochemistry at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, will speak on "Epidermal Growth Factor, Its Receptor and the Control of Cell Growth."

Cohen is best known for discovering the epidermal growth factor, a protein that appears to regulate cell growth. A member of the National Academy of Sciences since 1980, Cohen became the American Cancer Society Research Professor of Biochemistry in 1976.

The lectureship honors Leslie L. Bennett, MD, PhD, academic vice chancellor emeritus and professor emeritus of Physiology at UCSF, and is an annual event organized by his colleagues and students in the Department of Physiology.

A winner of the UCSF Medal in 1978 for his lifetime of service to the school, Bennett served as chair of the Department from 1953-66, and has been a teacher for some 40 years to countless scientists and physicians.

REPRODUCTIVE BIOLOGY SEMINAR:

NEWS BRIEFS

The United Way Campaign at UCSF will be held the week of October 31 to November 4. Increased participation is emphasized this year. Employees are being asked to give only what they can afford, under the slogan "If you can't give $50 then give $5; if you can't give $5 give $1." Every dollar counts and helps someone in the community.

During the campaign, employees can make a lump sum contribution or authorize monthly deductions from paychecks to United Way. Employees may designate their contribution to any one of the United Agencies; to campus-related programs such as the UCSF Child Care/Study Center, the foster grandparents program, Koret Family House, or to other needy programs such as the Shanti Project to help AIDS patients.

Three United Way informational meetings will be held for all donor representatives from each campus department on Thursday, October 27, from 11 a.m. to noon, 1 to 2 p.m. and 2 to 3 p.m. in Cole Hall. For further information contact Claudette Johnson at x2911.

The Puppet Therapy Program is sponsoring a hand puppet design competition with the assistance of the Louis B. Mayer Foundation. A $500 cash award will be presented to the first-place winner, $250 to second and $125 to third. The deadline for submitting entries is Tuesday, November 22.

The puppets will become part of UCSF's Puppet Therapy Program, in which trained puppeteers use hand puppets and miniature hospital equipment to familiarize pediatric patients with hospital procedures.

Puppets submitted to the design competition should be made of durable, nontoxic, preferably soft materials and should appeal to children. The cost of materials per puppet should not exceed $25.

For complete information on competition rules and entry procedures, contact Pat Stich, co-director of the Puppet Therapy Program, at x2538.

All individuals who are concerned about pedestrian safety and traffic congestion in Golden Gate Park are invited to present their comments on a Draft Transportation Plan. A public hearing before the Parks and Planning Committee of the Recreation and Park Commission will be held on Thursday, October 27, at 7 p.m. in the Hall of Flowers Auditorium, Ninth Avenue and Lincoln Way.

"The Draft Transportation Plan — A Proposal for Citizen Review" is part of the Golden Gate Park Comprehensive Transportation Study and addresses safety improvements and transportation policies, to ensure that all people have a safe and enjoyable visit to Golden Gate Park. It is available from the SF Recreation and Park Department, Planning Section, McLaren Lodge, S.F., CA 94117 (415-558-3182). Written statements on the draft plan are welcome and should be sent to the above address.

A preview informational meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 18, at 7 p.m. in the Commission Room at McLaren Lodge, Fell and Stanyan streets, at which time the plan will be presented by transportation consultants Jefferson Associates.

The Eighth Herbert McLean Evans Memorial Lecture will be held on Wednesday, November 16, at 2 p.m. in Cole Hall. Henry G. Friesen, professor of Medicine and head of the Department of Physiology of the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada, will speak on "Mammogens, Membranes, Models and Medicine."

Friesen is recognized throughout the world for his outstanding contributions in the field of reproductive endocrinology, particularly in the area concerned with the physiology of lactation in humans and other mammals. His studies have led to greater insights into the role played by pituitary and placental lactogenic hormones and their membrane receptors.

The lecture is sponsored by the Department of Anatomy in honor of the late UCSF biologist Herbert McLean Evans.

Louis R. Giancola, deputy associate director for Patient Care Services, Hospitals and Clinics, will be leaving UCSF to take a position as associate director at Santa Clara Medical Center, effective early November. Giancola joined the UCSF staff as an assistant director in 1977.

John A. Clements, MD, professor of Pediatrics and senior member of the Cardiovascular Research Institute, will be one of six scientists recognized for contributions in the field of medical science, when he receives the 1983 Gairdner Foundation International Award presented in Toronto on Friday, October 28.

Clements will be cited specifically for his discovery of a substance in human lungs that stabilizes the small air sacs and prevents them from collapsing. This discovery led to the first effective life-saving treatment for respiratory distress syndrome (hyaline membrane disease), a common and in the past fatal problem of premature infants in which the lungs fail to inflate after birth.

In conjunction with the award, Clements will present a lecture the preceding day on "Pulmonary Surface-Active Material in Health and Disease," at the University of Toronto.

Recent clinical and research information available on AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) will be presented at a comprehensive program entitled, "AIDS: A Multidisciplinary Enigma," Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4, at the Hotel Meridien, 50 Third Street, S.F.

The program, sponsored by the Division of Infectious Diseases, Department of Medicine, and Extended Programs in Medical Education, will cover the broad spectrum of symptoms associated with AIDS and the details of its evaluation and treatment. Featured sessions will include presentations on the epidemiology of this new, worldwide disease, and discussion on immunology, infection control considerations and etiology. Public health policy implications also will be explored.

John E. Conte, Jr., MD, associate professor of Medicine and Microbiology and chief of the Division of Infectious Diseases, is chair. Keynote speaker is James W. Curran, MD, MPH, director of AIDS Activity, Centers for Disease Control, Atlanta. UCSF faculty include: Drs. Donald I. Abrams, David F. Altman, Marcus A. Conant, W. Lawrence Drew, Jeffrey A. Golden, Richard A. Jacobs, Philip R. Lee, Jay A. Levy, John D. Stobo and Paul A. Volberding.

Cost of the program is $175 for pharmacists, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses and other allied health professionals; $140 interns, residents and students; $210 general. For additional program information call x5208; registration information x5808.

The Native Sons of the Golden West have donated $44,000 to the School of Dentistry, Craniofacial Center, bringing up to half a million dollars the total donated since 1956. The funds are used for professional diagnostic services and treatment for patients with facial birth defects, particularly cleft lip and palate.

HONORS & AWARDS

Francis A. Sooy, chancellor emeritus; professor, Otolaryngology: Milton Shoong Foundation, Hall of Fame award, given to "those who have achieved excellence in their professions, lifestyles and service to others and who best exemplify the Foundation's basic goal of serving the community at large, and who best demonstrates one of the most highly regarded traits of ancient Chinese culture — benevolence."

APPOINTMENTS

Stephen Wei: Professor & chair, Division of Pedodontics; vice chair, Department of Growth & Development, and director, Pediatric Dental Service, at Children's Hospital Medical Center of Northern California, Oakland. Wei formerly was professor and head of the Department of Pedodontics, College of Dentistry, University of Iowa. He holds a DDS from the University of Illinois, an MS from the University of Illinois and an MDS from the University of Adelaide, South Australia. He recently was the recipient of the 1983 American Society of Dentistry for Children Award in Excellence.

Arthur Miller: Director, Craniofacial Center, Department of Growth & Development. An associate professor in the Department since 1978, he came to UCSF in 1975 as an assistant professor.

David Rothman: Assistant director, Pediatric Dental Service, Children's Hospital Medical Center of Northern California, Oakland, and assistant professor, Growth & Development. A specialist in pedodontics, he received his DDS from the New York University College of Dentistry in 1979.

IN MEMORIAM

James A. McDowell, instructor, Restorative Dentistry, for 35 years before retiring in 1980. A '43 graduate of the School of Dentistry, he organized and developed the School's General Histology Department. He retired from private practice in San Francisco in 1982. The 87th Annual UCSF Dental Alumni Meeting in January of this year was held in his honor.

Milton Rose, clinical instructor at LPPI from 1946-59. A co-founder of the School of Public Health at UC-Berkeley, Rose was also one of the founders of Family Service Association of Palo Alto.

Robert D. Dunbar, assistant clinical professor, Neurosurgery, since 1957. A '43 graduate of the School of Medicine, he was a resident here from 1950-52. Dunbar maintained a private practice in Marin from 1956 to 1975, and then in Modesto until the time of his death.

Aveleen Blumenstock, assistant director, Continuing Education, LPPI, since 1981. She formerly was program coordinator for Radiology Postgraduate Video Tape Education from 1974-79.

A newly revised Contracts and Grants Approval Form (#71455-126) is now available from the Storehouse and must be used beginning with the November 1 grant deadline. The new form includes a revision of the safety requirements section. In addition, copies of the actual approval documents (Committee on Human Research approval letter, radioisotope application form, etc.) must be attached to the approval form.

Questions regarding specific safety requirement approvals should be directed to the Radiation Safety Committee, Committee on Human Research, or Biosafety Committee, x1814, Environmental Health & Safety, x1300, or Animal Care Facility, x1571.

Pokar M. Kabra, PhD, associate professor of Laboratory Medicine, has just completed a five-month sabbatical leave in India, where he established that country's first modern therapeutic drug monitoring laboratory.

Located in Bombay Hospital, the laboratory has proven so successful that it has led to the initiation of several other drug-level laboratories throughout India.

The laboratory was officially inaugurated in August with Laurence J. Marton, professor and chair, Laboratory Medicine, presenting the keynote address and scientific presentation.

A preview slide show of the upcoming Vatican Exhibit at the De Young Museum will be presented by Pat Schindler at the Faculty Wives meeting, Wednesday, November 2, at 10:30 a.m. at the Faculty/Alumni House. Lunch will follow the program. For reservations contact Mrs. David Allen at 388-2883 before October 26.

The 1983-84 Faculty Wives officers are: Anne Haase, president; Marianna Boles, president-elect; Jo Bovill, vice president; Jean Levinson, recording secretary; Judith Hoar, treasurer; Mickie Bender, corresponding secretary; Anne Hickey, treasurer-elect and Donna Brandborg, advisor.
